

Judiciary Committee Of State Senate Sets Thayer Probe April 9

Attorney General Bennett Prepares List of Probable Witnesses—May Appear—Hearing to be Held at Thayer's Request.

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Organization of the judiciary committee of the New York State Senate is expected when the Thayer utilities investigation Monday afternoon at Albany.

Attorney General John J. Bennett, who is in charge of the investigation, prepared a list of probable witnesses today. There have been unconfirmed reports that the committee might call Republican Senator W. Kirkland Macy, who is in charge of the utilities question last winter by charging that it was a party's Assemblymen were controlled by a "power ring."

Members of the Senate and Assembly have been asked to push to a decision, possibly late today, as to whether to recommend a searching legislative investigation of all utilities companies. Resolutions proposing such an inquiry were introduced Monday night by leaders of both parties.

Senator Warren T. Thayer, whose alleged correspondence with the Associated Gas and Electric Company was made public by the federal trade commission last week, announced he was arranging for the services of counsel. He declined to say who his counsel would be.

Thayer asked for the investigation "at once." He voted for it yesterday. He heard Senator John J. McNaboe, New York Democrat, suggest to the judiciary committee of which he is a member that its investigation be modeled after regular court procedure.

"We want no hearsay evidence," McNaboe declared. "There will be no harm done Senator Thayer so long as I have anything to do with it, unless the evidence warrants it."

Senator William T. Byrne, Albany Democrat, is chairman of the committee and will preside at the fact-finding hearings. After a two-hour conference he said the committee had been unable to agree on a method of procedure, but would reach a decision today.

Events of the last few days stirred the New York Capital into a "turbulent" over the utilities question.

From a state of almost complete legislative inertia so far as utilities were concerned, publication of the purported Thayer letters last Thursday has suddenly pushed all else into the background. Even Mayor LaGuardia, who came to Albany Monday in behalf of his economy bill, was forced to wait in a downtown hotel overnight while the legislature considered a utilities investigation.

Fast developments are being organized in the assembly to fight for an open broader investigation than legislative leaders proposed. Assemblyman Hamilton F. Potter, New York Republican from Long Island, is attempting to introduce a resolution for an inquiry into all relationships, past or present, between legislators or state officials and utility companies.

Senator McNaboe, rebellious against the Democratic leadership which blocked his resolution for a similar inquiry, hinted that "sinister influences" were at work. He charged he was being "gagged."

Senator Jeremiah F. Twomey, New York Democrat, called a meeting this morning of the finance committee, of which he is chairman. "We will act on the Dunham resolution as speedily as we can," he said.

Assemblyman Frederick L. Porter, Essex county Republican, called the assembly ways and means committee together this afternoon to consider the Dunmore resolution.

The resolutions of Senator John J. Dunham, the Democratic majority leader, and Assemblyman Russell G. Dunmore, the Republican majority leader, are similar. Both call for an inquiry into rates, services, business practices and other phases of utility operation.

Senator McNaboe's sharp criticism of Monday night's procedure followed an angry exchange with Senator Dunham on the senate floor. Dunham threatened to adjourn the senate if McNaboe made a speech, and actually moved for adjournment, but later withdrew the motion.

"I think that in an open forum of this kind, under an American form of government, where the people send to this forum a representative, that representative should not be gagged," McNaboe declared.

"It was not long ago, Mr. President, that I felt the strength of billions of dollars behind the opposition to certain bills that I sponsored in this house and that passed this house."

E. Frank Flanagan Purchases Interests Of His Two Partners

Senior Member of the Firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins Will Now Have Associated With Him His Son. Albert Flanagan—New Proprietor Is One of Kingston's Best Known and Respected Citizens.

A change in one of the oldest established and best known businesses in this section of the state is disclosed by the announcement that E. Frank Flanagan, senior member of the firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins, has purchased the interests in the firm of Kenneth Arthur and Oscar A. Watkins.

The business, which is located at 321 Wall street, will be continued by Mr. Flanagan, who will have associated with him his son, Albert Flanagan.

The present firm was organized November 16, 1921, taking over the old established business in men's and boys' clothing and furnishings which had been conducted for years by S. Cohen's Sons—Raphael Cohen and the late Aaron Cohen.

Mr. Flanagan entered the employ of S. Cohen in 1902 as bookkeeper. Because of his strict attention to business he rose to the position of general manager, the position he held at the time the business was taken over by the firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins. K. E. Archer, member of the firm of Flanagan-Archer-Watkins, was formerly with the Wood Young Co., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and has been actively engaged in the business for the last ten years. For the present Mr. Archer will remain with Mr. Flanagan.

Oscar A. Watkins, the other member of the firm, was formerly with Wilson Bros., Chicago, Ill. Mr. Watkins has never taken an active part in the business. By the terms of the partnership agreement it would have expired in December. It was decided that for the best interest of all concerned it was wise to terminate the partnership at this time. The present sales force will be retained by Mr. Flanagan.

The new proprietor is one of Kingston's best known and respected citizens. A native of High Falls, he attended school in that town. Coming to Kingston in 1899, he completed a course at Spencer's Business School and then entered the employ of S. Cohen, remaining with that firm until the present partnership was formed in 1924. Mr. Flanagan has been active in civic affairs since making his home in this city. He is a former president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and the Uptown Business Men's Association. At the present time he is president of the Kingston Cooperative Savings and Loan Association and a director of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston.

Albert Flanagan, who will be associated with his father in the business, is a graduate of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and is further qualified for a business career by a post-graduate course in retail economics in New York University.

A host of friends will wish for "Flanagan" a continuance of the success which this business has enjoyed for a long term of years and the confidence which it has enjoyed from a large clientele, drawn not only from Kingston but from all parts of Ulster county.

Richard F. Johnston, Kingston Baseball Star in Eighties, Died

Played With Boston National League and Other Major League Teams—Was Formerly Employed in The Freeman Job Printing Plant—Funeral Here Saturday.

Richard F. "Dick" Johnston, one of the few Kingston men to make a name for himself in major league baseball, a star of late eighties and early nineties, died Tuesday at the home of his son, Richard, Jr., 2165 Fourth avenue, Detroit, Mich. If he had lived until Friday, he would have celebrated his 51st birthday.

Besides the son with whom he resided, there survives his wife, formerly Ellen Coughlin of Kingston; a son, Matthew, also of Detroit; and three daughters, Mrs. Michael Mitchell, Mrs. John Zeel and Mrs. Russell Bishop, all of Kingston.

Mr. Johnston's body will be sent to Kingston, arriving Friday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Zeel, 17 West Union street, where friends may call to view it. The funeral will be held Saturday with interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Aside from being a prominent athlete, Mr. Johnston was a printer, one of the old school, who learned his trade at the case long before the linotype came into use in printing offices. At one time he was employed in The Freeman job printing plant.

His Baseball Career. From 1885 to 1889 Mr. Johnston played for Boston in the old National League, being one of the collection of stars that included Charlie Bennett, Charlie Gansel, Hardie Richardson, Dan Brouthers, Hoss Radbourne, John Clarkson and Mike "King" Kelly. He was a member of the team that lost a close race to New York in 1889, dropping the series on the last day.

Finishing with Boston, the Kingston athlete went to New York, then to Cincinnati and finally to the minors. He retired in 1894 to take a position in The Freeman job printing plant.

Mr. Johnston left Kingston about 13 years ago and went to Detroit, where he engaged in the printing business for a while. Later he became a court officer and a deputy on the staff of George W. Wallace, sheriff of Wayne county, Michigan. Five years ago he took a position in the Detroit House of Correction and held it until the day before Christmas when his health began to fail, noticeably due to cancer of the throat.

From the time of his retirement because of poor health, Mr. Johnston lived at the home of his son, Richard, Jr. His wife was in constant attendance at his bedside, comforting him in his determined fight for life.

Oldtimers recall "Dick" as the "perfect defensive outfielder," better than Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb or Max Carey, holding him up as more proficient than the stars of the diamond who came after him. He had a great throwing arm, comparable to that of Tris Speaker, who, Donnie Bush used to say, threw strikes from centerfield. He could hit with the best of them and once while playing with Boston at Detroit hit a home run that went down in history as one of the longest ever seen at that city and which won him $50 from an advertiser.

Regardless of the complimentary things said of him and those of his heyday, Mr. Johnston was one who supported the theory that the game and those playing it show greater advancement every day. He was an ardent baseball fan all his life and always enjoyed being at the big league park in Detroit, where Connie Mack and Kid Gleason were there for he liked to chat with them. His one big hope was to see Detroit win the championship this year.

BLAME EXAMINATIONS FOR STUDENT'S SUICIDE. Ann Arbor, Mich., April 4 (AP).—Worry over examinations was blamed today for the death of Louise E. Van Ameringen, popular junior at the University of Michigan. She was found shot through the heart yesterday and a coroner said "all evidence indicated it was suicide."

The 20-year-old girl was the daughter of Victor E. Van Ameringen, prominent Ann Arbor attorney. Her mother had no. Her parents said they knew of no reason for her to kill herself except possibly because of overwork.

Just A Year Ago Today...

Serious Floods Cause Much Damage as Ice And Rains Hold Sway

Grand River Chief Center of Ontario Menace—Dams and Bridges Swept Away in Wisconsin—6 Feared Dead in Oklahoma.

Toronto, April 4 (AP).—The flood menace today centered in the valley of the swelling Grand river where periodic ice jams backed up surface waters over farms and highways and at one point threatened to carry away a bridge.

In the Ottawa valley a similar condition prevailed with little hope of immediate relief. The floods, in some cases drove families from their homes in Cornwall.

The highway bridge at Watkinson was menaced by a two-mile jam and it was expected it would be carried away when the flood started moving again. Riverside communities face the threat of floods when the jam breaks up.

Where the river passes through Brantford the level was two feet higher and was only three feet under the railway span below the Brantford dam. Although a $500,000 dike system assured protection of the city, a close watch was being kept on the waterway.

Wisconsin Washout. Hudson, Wis., April 4 (AP).—Two dams, a 150 foot highway bridge, and 200 foot railway trestle were washed out early today under pressure from flood waters, adding an estimated $500,000 damage to the loss from the torrential rains of Monday night.

The middle dam of the Willow River Power Company, about four miles east of here, gave way about midnight, releasing a 50 foot wall of water.

The torrent hurled buildings, trees and debris against a bridge between Hudson and North Hudson, and pounded it to pieces.

Next the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha Railway trestle collapsed before the smashing flood. The flood broke the main gas line connecting Hudson with Stillwater, Minn., leaving the city of Hudson with only a limited amount of gas. It also smashed the North Hudson water connections. Thus North Hudson has no water supply other than that available from wells and springs, and health authorities fear they may have been contaminated.

It was near here that a freight train was wrecked by a washout early yesterday, killing three trainmen.

6 Feared Drowned. Elk City, Okla., April 4 (AP).—Mrs. A. M. Adams and five children were missing today and believed drowned in a sudden flood of the Washita river which literally washed them from their home.

When rescuers reached the house, washed into the side of a bridge, they found it empty.

The river crept almost to the edge of Hammon, a town of about 500 persons, and many houses on both sides of the stream were washed away. The rise continued.

WALTER J. PRATT VETERAN ASSEMBLYMAN IS DEAD. Warsaw, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Funeral plans were indefinite today for Walter J. Pratt, veteran St. Lawrence county assemblyman, who died late yesterday afternoon in Wyoming County Community Hospital after an illness of several weeks with heart disease.

Mr. Pratt, a Republican, was considered an authority on taxation and many times was selected by the state's governors to attend national meetings. His most recent selection was by Governor Herbert H. Lehman to attend a national tax conference in Texas.

The assemblyman had resided in Massena for half a century, nearly all of which time he was interested in lumbering.

He was born in Lowell, Mass., April 6, 1885; attended school there and was graduated from Andover Academy, Andover, Mass.

After service on Massena's school board and as village mayor, Mr. Pratt was elected to the assembly in 1921. He had served there since.

He was chairman of the assembly committee on taxation and retirement and a member of the ways and means and legislative committees.

Survivors are his widow, a son, Proctor, and two daughters, Mrs. Harry E. Nims of Massena and Mrs. Henry Martin of Warsaw.

Our Growing Population. The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Chester I. Myers, Saugerties, a son, Roger Shipman, at Kingston Hospital.

Secret Investigation Held Into Death of Palmer Canfield

Coroner Conner Bars Reporters and Is Noncommittal On Who Was Present—Coroner Signs Certificate Stating Death Was Due To Cerebral Hemorrhage—Dr. Johnston Refuses To Sign.

A secret investigation into the death of former Mayor Palmer Canfield was held this morning by Coroner W. Norman Conner. All newspaper reporters were barred from the meeting. Following the meeting a death certificate was issued by Coroner Conner which gave the cause of death as "cerebral hemorrhage," and further stated that "no autopsy" was performed. Dr. Frank Johnston, who was the first physician to examine Mr. Canfield's body, did not sign the death certificate.

The district attorney, Elton R. Murray, stated that he was in no way involved in the affair, that he would not order an autopsy unless the death certificate was not signed and that as long as it was signed he did not have any part in the matter.

Dr. Johnston refused to sign the death certificate on the grounds that a doctor should see the patient at least 21 hours before death, and Dr. Johnston did not see Mr. Canfield until after death. He, however, gave his opinion that death was due to "cerebral hemorrhage."

Who attended the "private hearing" besides Dr. Johnston is not known. Coroner Conner stated that the matter was "private," and he was noncommittal.

Mr. Canfield died suddenly Monday morning. He had been ill during the night, and it is believed that he went to his bathroom during a sick spell, and fell striking his head. Dr. Johnston was called and stated at that time that a cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death.

In his opinion, this corresponds with the official death certificate which reads "cerebral hemorrhage resulting from accidental fall in his bathroom, struck his head on the bath tub." To the question of was autopsy performed the answer was "no."

The number of persons attending Coroner Conner's meeting was not announced nor the persons named. Private funeral services for Mr. Canfield were held this afternoon from the late home, 50 West Chester street, with the Rev. Fred H. Deming, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, officiating. Interment was in Montrose Cemetery.

Tuesday evening large delegations from the Knights of Pythias, Workmen of the World, Association, Kingston Taxpayers' Association and city officials called at the house to pay their last respects.

COLE PENATE DEAD TODAY OF SELF-INFLICTED WOUND. Havana, April 4 (AP).—Colonel Roberto Mendez Penate, secretary of justice in the Mendieta cabinet, died today of a bullet wound which authorities said was self-inflicted.

The 62-year-old veteran of Cuba's war for independence and bitter foe of former President Machado, died shortly after he was taken to a hospital from his home.

He had been found lying in his private office, a bullet wound in his neck. President Mendieta and other cabinet ministers were at the hospital when he died.

Governor Vetoes Measure. Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP).—Declaring the provision should be retained, Governor Lehman today had vetoed a measure repealing that section of the tax law providing a collector must call at least once on every person whose taxes had not been paid. The bill by Assemblyman Harry A. Roubin, Warren county Republican, also would have done away with levy on personal property. The governor said this power is seldom used, but he believed the law allowing collection of a real estate tax out of personal property should be preserved.

Republican Club Meeting. Tonight at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Fourth Ward Republican Club at the club rooms. A full attendance is requested.

Costner Sentenced To 30 Years in Prison. Charlotte, N. C., April 4 (AP).—Isaac Costner, Tomby mobster, was sentenced today to 30 years in federal prison for his part in the $165,000 mail truck robbery here November 15, after a jury convicted him on 12 counts.

The former member of the Touhy gang who turned state's evidence at the trial of his former pals in the Factor kidnapping case, was sentenced to 25 years on conviction of robbery with firearms and to five years for robbery and assault.

The indictment listed 13 counts, but the former Tennessee mountaineer was sentenced on only two. Judgment was suspended on the other counts which charged various violations of postal laws.

Black Price Increase. Flint, Mich., April 4 (AP).—An increase in the prices, effective at once, was announced today by the Buick Motor Co. The increase, which ranges from $45 to $120, was attributed to the recent rise in wages and reduction in work hours.

Calls For Probe of Names on Relief Rolls

Governor Wants Municipalities to Eliminate From Rolls All Persons Not Absolutely in Need—Bills Introduced by Senator Wicks.

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Governor Lehman called on all municipalities and counties today to eliminate from immediate and thorough investigation of the names appearing on their relief rolls.

Mr. Lehman said he wanted municipalities to eliminate from their rolls all persons except "those absolutely in need of relief."

The governor said this investigation would help to reduce the load on the state's relief fund.

His proposal was contained in a message to the legislature asking that it pass a bill.

He announced that hereafter the state and federal government intend to increase their aid to New York municipalities to 75 cents on each dollar spent for relief.

At present the amount of aid is 65 cents. "It is clear," he said, "that it will be essential for the municipalities of the state not only to continue to conserve approximately the same amount toward work and home relief, but to reduce the cost of the relief fund by means of an immediate and thorough investigation which will insure that only those absolutely in need of relief are placed on the work and relief rolls."

Mr. Lehman announced three other changes in the state's policy. Bills were immediately introduced. The changes are:

1.—Municipalities may be authorized by the state relief commission to pay cash, instead of grocery orders, for home relief.

2.—Reorganization of compensation insurance methods for municipal relief workers to cut the cost of insurance up to $4,000,000.

3.—Make it possible for municipalities to borrow money to buy equipment for work relief projects.

Under the latter provision, Mr. Lehman said, municipalities "can escape the necessity of resorting to leaves-taking projects and can undertake projects of real worth."

Bills carrying out the governor's recommendations were introduced by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican.

Samoyed Dog Guards His Reindeer Like Shepherd

The Samoyed, a semi-nomadic race of people living in northeastern Russia and Siberia—and from whom the dog derives his name—depend upon him for herding the reindeer that supplies their food and clothing, says an authority in the Los Angeles Times.

Well protected from the snow and sharp ice by thick fur between the toes, which almost covers the black pads, his quick feet—propelled by straight, heavy-boned muscular legs—swiftly well down—carry him at good speed in driving and rounding up his charges. His speed and great endurance have also been advantageously utilized to furnish the sole means of transportation—for he is their sledge dog—as important to their life as food and fuel.

Of the large family of Arctic dogs comprising the wolf-spitz or Pommeranian group that carry their chrysanthemum-like tails, pompon fashion, close to their backs—he has, however, little of the width of jaw that characterizes the chow and other Asiatic types. His powerful head is wedge shaped with a broad flat skull, muzzle of medium length and tapering forehead, into which black, intelligent eyes, wide apart, are deeply set. Rims encircling the eyes are likewise black, as are also the nose and lips.

With these exceptions, the dog, from the top of his sharp erect ears, well haired inside and out, to the tip of his bushy tail, is pure snow white in color except for slight shading or spots of color that appear occasionally on the ears.

Earth Furnishes Source of Music for Bolivians

A land of sheer mountain peaks, with towns and villages situated so much nearer heaven than there ever is heard a clamor for fresh air, Bolivia should live a life strangely apart, in some respects, from other corners of the globe.

The traveler roaming through the interior will find many strange things. One will hear music in an Indian village, but the music will not be as strange as the instrument. Close analysis will show that old Mother Earth basically furnishes the source of music. In New York you hear jazz bands with brass instruments—the brass furnished by Mother Earth. But in Bolivia the natives don't bother to dig below the surface. They shape their instruments from what grows out of the soil.

The sumpson is the favorite musical instrument of the Bolivians. It is made from varying sized reeds. It is a magnified form of a rondador so popular in Ecuador. Much of the music heard in the Indian villages in this region is of melodies handed down for centuries—bits of ancient fads and pre-Inca tribal songs, chants used in making supplication to the sun god and melodies which accompanied the ritualistic dances given to placate the gods of the earth and the harvest.

Tramper and whistling swans are as much alike as are almost indistinguishable in the field, yet the first is a swan, the second a swan. The whistling swan breeds mainly north of the Arctic Circle. Its nesting grounds are unaffected by civilization. The tramper swan breeds in Canada and the great northern valley of the United States, where it was subject to every adverse influence, even to the draining of many of the small breeding lakes.

TROOP 12 CELEBRATES ITS 4TH ANNIVERSARY

On Monday evening at the Bethany Chapel the members of Troop 12 celebrated the fourth year of the troop's existence before a gathering composed of parents of the scouts, two of the neighboring troops and the members of the troop committee. After the roll had been called, Mr. Edson, chairman of the troop committee, gave a short talk on the troop's accomplishments. Following this the treasurer's annual report and the troop's history for the past year were given. One of the features of the program was the candle lighting ceremony conducted by Edward Doolan, the assistant scoutmaster, and the installation and presentation of tenderfoot pins to four new members by Lincoln Spencer. Immediately after the presentation of the membership cards to the scouts by Mr. Davis, 11 attendance pins were presented to those not missing more than two meetings during the year and pins with an added bar to three scouts who had not missed more than two meetings in two years. Ward Brigham, Conrad Kanzer and Bob Doolan and John Roberts, the four new members of the Flying Eagle Patrol, received their new medallions and were promoted to the senior patrol leadership. Robert Doolan was presented with a medal by Mr. St. John as the outstanding scout of 1933 and Conrad Kanzer and Edwin Ford received bars as the other outstanding scouts. A surprise feature of the meeting was the presentation of a committee's badge to Mr. Davis by Conrad Kanzer, on behalf of the troop. At the close of the program Leo Boice played several selections on his banjo and the meeting ended with taps and the Scoutmaster's benediction.

Insull Leaves Fate To British Barrister

Turkish Authorities Refuse Operator Any Freedom—Insull May Be Forced to Leave On April 10 For Voyage to U. S.

Istanbul, April 4 (AP)—Reduced to munching peanuts in a Turkish house of detention—unable even to obtain his personal baggage from the vessel upon which he was seized—Samuel Insull awaited today of forts by newly acquired British lawyers to delay his extradition to the United States.

The aged fugitive sent one of his wardens out today for a bag of peanuts. Then, while hundreds of curious pedestrians gazed up at his little room, he walked up and down before the window eating the goobers. Insull was in good health and appeared less depressed after talking with the lawyers trying to find some loophole in the Turkish government's ruling that he must be handed over to the United States for trial on larceny and fraud charges.

His immediate interest was centered on obtaining a small valise from his chartered Greek freighter, the Maiotis, lying in Istanbul Harbor. The valise was reported to contain important documents.

Undaunted by the final character of the decision of the Turkish Ministerial Council for Insull's extradition, Alexander Mango, British barrister, sped final efforts to save Insull from extradition with hopes of at least delaying the final action of handing Insull over.

There still was no indication as to when Insull will be extradited. An American boat sails April 10, however, and Insull may be pined aboard her if extradition proceedings are completed.

Insull's lawyer declared he had not received notice of the court of session's ruling yesterday that there could be no appeal.

Turkish legal authorities explained the court ruling Sunday upon which the decision that Insull could legally be extradited was based constituted merely a statement of fact—not a verdict. For this reason, they explained, it was not subject to appeal.

Upon receipt of notice of rejection of the appeal, expected today, the lawyer planned a further appeal against the refusal of the third penal tribunal of Istanbul to consider the original petition.

The Associated Press learned Insull has not renounced his American nationality, as reported in some quarters yesterday.

The report was based on the fact his lawyers were considering arguing that Insull's American citizenship was lost with the withdrawal of his passport and other papers. The argument was that Insull would thereby automatically regain his English nationality.

Mrs. M. W. Vanderbilt Faces Nuisance Charge

Bryn Mawr, Pa., April 4 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Weir Vanderbilt, divorced wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., is accused in a warrant of "maintaining a public nuisance" in the form of two Scottish terriers.

The warrant has not been served. Mrs. Vanderbilt was "not at home" to a constable but Police Lieutenant Wilmer Clement says she promised over the telephone to appear for a hearing late today.

A hearing was scheduled for last night, but had to be postponed for want of a defendant.

Edwin Wright, who lives next door to the society matron, is the complainant. He says that the dogs have bitten his 18-year-old daughter, Louise, three times and that Mrs. Vanderbilt has been warned they are vicious.

Saying she refused to apologize, Wright announced, "I'm not going to let Mrs. Vanderbilt thumb her nose at me." The warrant was the result.

"40 Years Old and How I Feel It!"

Forty often starts a person downward because at that age the old intestinal machinery starts slowing up. A sort of intestinal stagnation sets in and, just like scum on a stagnant pool, poisons begin to form.

The poisons are absorbed by the entire system and they make themselves felt in a dozen different ways—in acid stomach, with sourness and gas pains; in pains and aches about the body; in depleted strength and vitality and a constant tired feeling; in ragged nerves, with sleepless nights and blue, discouraged days.

Every person of forty or over should take special pains to police his intestinal tract. That is, he should do something to keep down acidity and check putrefaction. There is nothing better for the purpose than Magesia Ozoids. Magesia Ozoids are an entirely new way of counteracting acidity and food decay.

They do not dope you but, instead, release pure oxygen within the intestinal tract. Oxygen has been found to be a marvelous anti-acid and anti-toxin. In a perfectly natural way it combats acidity and putrefaction and keeps the whole intestinal tract sweet and clean—and inward cleanliness is the secret of virile health.

Try Magesia Ozoids—two after each meal and two before retiring at night—and see how much better you feel. You'll think you've suddenly dropped ten years. All good druggists sell Magesia Ozoids.

Everyone is asked to come out and enjoy a good supper and spend a social time together. The following men are on the supper committee: Charles Stokes, A. J. Anderson, George At-

Changes Made In Tax Schedule For Liquors

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—Beverage tax returns show that all distributors do not yet fully understand the state's revised tax schedule for liquors, wines and beer, the tax department said today.

Louis H. Fines, director of the Beverage Tax Bureau, said he wished to remind distributors that liquors containing less than 24 percent of alcohol by volume are taxed only 50 cents. Until the law was changed recently, all liquors were taxed $1.00 a gallon.

Other changes—Cider was put in the beer class, with a tax of 2 1/2 cents a gallon. The still wines class, which formerly included cider, continues to be taxed 10 cents a gallon.

Artificially carbonated sparkling wines are taxed only 20 cents a gallon, instead of 40 cents. The latter tax still applies to naturally carbonated sparkling wines.

The new taxes apply on all sales after April 2. Distributors are required to file returns on or before the 20th of each month for the previous month.

Fingerprints Identified

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The Department of Justice today definitely identified as those of John Dillinger, fingerprints found in the St. Paul apartment where agents fought it out with two men and a woman last Saturday.

Judith Lane

by JESSIE BOWMAN

She was the first to see the queer shiprock where the surveying crew had taken shelter during the storm. There in its lee was a small house, lights gleaming through bare windows, hammers beating a rapid tattoo.

They stopped before the opened door and a man in coveralls, pointing a final call in the door step, stood up.

"Welcome home, Sam, Jude," he said.

"Sam Sanford," gasped Judith. "If I didn't know you had wings I'd believe you were your own ghost. However did you get here?"

"With my wings. Conard sent me down as soon as you made up your mind to come. He wired Laredo for lumber to be sent in and the boys worked in their hours to put this up."

"I repeat, you're a great gang," Judith, who knew the dearth of lumber so far from shipping centers, appreciated the little wooden shack for its true value. It was just one long barren room with a board-leanto for a kitchen and a curtained alcove for Delphy, but it spelled luxury.

Delphy took in the situation and called Sam Sanford aside. Sam had been around Hillendale enough for Delphy to have assumed a proprietary air over him and his services.

"Ma's Sam, reckon I'd best make coffee and sandwiches," he decided it would be a fine idea and he presided over the old stove which Delphy eyed with considerable apprehension while she made sandwiches, devoured by the men who sat in the big room talking to Judith.

JUDITH was silent for the most part. Listening to them talk and cleaning the real beas of Big Tom Town. When Sam came in with the coffee pot she looked up and surprised his eyes in an unguarded moment. Sympathy and tenderness were there, and a fierce protectiveness.

"Delphy says just chocolate for you, Judith," he explained when she held up her cup for coffee.

After the men had left, Judith went to her comfortable bed, brought in on the work train for her, and tried to sleep, but her mind sped back to Houston. What would Norman think when he realized she had left? What would he do? Would he write? Where was he now, still in Galveston, perhaps? His case promised to last for a week at least. She wondered if Mathilde was with him?

Restlessly she turned and tossed. Mathilde would be with him if it were within her power. Perhaps she would talk him into taking her to their farmhouse for dinner... perhaps there would be clove plinks and hollyhocks along the path.

She was being silly, neither one was in blossom this time of the year and Norman would not be out with Mathilde.

She should be thinking of the work which lay before her. She thought of Sam Sanford instead, thought of him wondering. Of course Sam had been acting as a winged courier for Conard, and yet there seemed to be something deeper in his concern for her welfare.

JUDITH did not want Sam's regard to go deeper than friendship—and yet she felt a twinge of pleasure when she thought of the aviator.

She started to turn and heard Delphy's springs creak. She held her breath. If Delphy learned she was awake she'd have to drink some more chocolate and she couldn't. She lay there wondering what the old woman would do when she saw the native children: try to fatten them? What a time she'd have.

That was it, she'd write Norman in a light vein—"Normy dear, be hold your wife, Delphy accompanied by six cans of chocolate and the old red brick."

She curled into a comfortable position, punched her pillow into a puff ball and burrowed her head into it resolutely. She'd count sheep. She began, one, two, three... and then one hundred, two hundred... four hundred and fifty... was it six or seven... there were voices outside. She opened her eyes, the sun was streaming in through the uncurtained windows and Delphy was tiptoeing to the door, a warning—"Shhh!" preceding her.

"Ize right sorry, but she didn't get no sleep till com' two-thirty this morn' an' I won't wake her."

JUDITH sat up and peeked out the window. Heads, men's and women's, Scoggins was in the lead... a delegation of the native families were waiting at the door.

"Delphy," she called, "tell them: I'll be out as soon as I dress."

STATE INCOME TAX

BY MARK GRAVES, Commissioner.

During recent weeks our income tax Bureau has been deluged with letters seeking information on both the emergency income tax and the normal income tax. Believing that the practical question and answer method is very effective in clearing up general misunderstandings, I have secured a list of some of the questions most frequently asked by taxpayers together with the answers supplied by the Bureau. They are offered as follows: I trust that they may be of aid in your particular case.

Q. What calendar year income is subject to the emergency tax?
 A. 1933.

Q. Which fiscal years' return is subject to the emergency tax? List separately.
 A. Fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1933, Oct. 31, 1933, Nov. 30, 1933, Dec. 31, 1933, Jan. 31, 1934, Feb. 28, 1934, March 31, 1934, April 30, 1934, May 31, 1934, June 30, 1934, July 31, 1934, August 31, 1934.

Q. Is there any provision for protection of tax on returns filed for fiscal years?
 A. No.

Q. What is gross income in computing normal tax?
 A. Gross income for the normal tax consists of all items of income with the exception of those excluded by Section 353 of the Tax Law.

Q. What is gross income in computing emergency tax?
 A. Gross income for the emergency tax is the same as gross income for the normal tax except that gains and losses from transactions in real and personal property must be excluded.

Q. What is net income in computing normal tax?
 A. Net income is gross income computed for the normal tax, less deductions allowed by statute.

Q. What is net income in computing emergency tax?
 A. Net income for the emergency tax is gross income computed for the emergency tax less statutory deductions other than losses from transactions in real and personal property.

Q. A return not being required under the provisions for filing for normal tax purposes—if a return is filed is emergency tax liability incurred?
 A. No liability for the emergency tax is incurred unless a return is required to be filed for normal tax purposes. Therefore, if a return is filed, no emergency tax is due.

Q. Is an individual who is "head of family" and has gross income of $2,000 and deductions of $700 required to file a return and pay a tax?
 A. This individual must file a return, but no tax is due, inasmuch as the personal exemption allowable is in excess of net income.

Q. Included in determining gross income by a resident taxpayer and by a non-resident taxpayer?
 A. Gross rental income from property located within New York state must be included in the computation of gross income by both a resident taxpayer and by a non-resident taxpayer.

Q. How should rental income received by a resident taxpayer from real property having a situs outside the state be shown in a return?
 A. Rental income received by a resident taxpayer from real property having a situs outside the state must be shown in Schedule D—"Non-taxable income." Form 201 and full details of gross rents and deductions should be explained in attached schedule.

Q. May deductions be claimed for interest on mortgages and taxes on real property located without the state of New York by a resident taxpayer?
 A. The law allows a New York resident deductions for all interest and taxes paid. Therefore, such disbursements on real property located outside New York are deductible by a resident taxpayer.

Q. How should payments on sale reported on the installment plan be reflected in computing gross income (a) for normal tax purposes; (b) for emergency tax purposes?
 A. That portion of the installment payments which represents income computed on the installment basis must be reflected in computing gross income for normal tax purposes, but should be excluded for emergency tax purposes.

Q. Where should income received in question 13 be entered on the return?
 A. All income received from the sale of real property should be reported at item 27, Page 2 of the return form unless the transaction was connected with a business or trade of the taxpayer. In such event, include the profit in Schedule A, Page 3.

Q. How should income received from the sale of real property be reported on the return?

Gundown Stories

A Good Job

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
 "Please come along," urged Willy Nilly. "I'll give you something to eat."

"Oh but you can't give me anything I'm getting here. I've had the most delicious food and now I'm looking over all the time the pass and scrapping them so as not to be wasteful," Jelly Bear answered.

"If you're not careful," scolded Willy Nilly, "they'll take you and put you in a cage and then you won't have any freedom at all. You've not used to doing tricks and traveling around the country. You wouldn't like it. And do you want to leave Honey Bear and the cubs behind? That's what will happen to you if you don't come with me now."

"I'm not being greedy," answered Jelly Bear. "I've taken lots of food up to the cave, and Honey Bear is as pleased as can be. By the way, did you know that the cubs' eyes were open now? Oh, they are very sweet."

"Don't change the subject, Jelly Bear. Come with me. In another moment they'll discover you and they'll decide that if you eat their food you might as well work for them."

"I'm working for them now," growled Jelly Bear. "I have a job, and a very good job it is."

"Oh, Jelly Bear," cried Willy Nilly, "you're not going to leave us, are you? You haven't decided to go with the circus when it starts off? Oh, Jelly Bear, I thought nothing would make you go away from Puddle Muddle." Willy Nilly's eyes filled with tears.

Stores Fat in Tail

The gila monster, famous North American lizard which makes its home in the desert regions of Arizona and Mexico, stores up fat in its blunt tail during periods when food is plentiful. After a period of steady feeding, during which the tail becomes much enlarged, the animal is capable of going without food for several months, subsisting during this time upon the accumulated fatty tissue stored up in its tail.

History of Boulevard

Project

(This is the third of a series of articles dealing with the history of the Boulevard from the time it was listed to be improved as a work relief project until the Grumme contract was cancelled and plans made to relet.)

Mayor Heiselman found multiple difficulties facing him as he assumed office, as far as the Boulevard was concerned. There was the question of additional rights of way, certain property owners whose land had been used during previous work, were threatening suit for damages, and more important the state highway department was justly incensed over a great delay in completing the Boulevard, and threatened to have the Grumme contract cancelled.

Notice of necessary action or cancellation of the contract was received on January 26 by Mayor Heiselman, and he was told that the state department was tired of the "dilatory tactics" which had been pursued, and that immediate action would be necessary.

The mayor got busy at once and by urging and appealing to the civil spirit of the property owners along the Boulevard procured parcels of land belonging to George W. Moore, Herman Richter, Anna Hyde and William Lawton for the nominal sum of $1 for each parcel of land, and to Arthur VanDemark. He also negotiated an agreement with Mr. Bowers, giving the city the right to make a fill on his property, which eliminated the construction of a 14 foot retaining wall, which had been formerly ordered and was to have been constructed of concrete. Agreements could not be reached covering the properties of Mr. Johnston and Mr. Gruberg but rights of entry were obtained, subject to future purchase or condemnation. One of the Gruberg parcels will also be used for filling purposes, eliminating the second concrete retaining wall, thus saving the city additional expense.

When the Work Relief Committee laid out the right of way a section of the Gruberg property for about 1,000 feet was taken with the result that the owner began a civil action against the city for $3,500 damages. This suit was disposed of when Mr. Gruberg signed the right of entry, giving the city the right to use the property pending further negotiations.

At this time a startling discovery was made, which had it been allowed as planned would have endangered

7 Men Who Opposed Slaughter House Entry Into War 17 Years Ago, Feel Same

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP).—A group of seven men who voted against America's entry into World War 17 years ago today would vote the same way if the fateful roll were called today.

The seven are all that remain in the original band of 56 who voted for peace and saw war roll up upon the nation. The vote was 56 to 43 in favor of war on April 6, 1917, and the next day the house made a similar decision by a vote of 373 to 33.

Here is what the seven said today on the 17th anniversary of that roll call.

Senator Norris, Independent Republican of Nebraska: "Not only our country but every civilized country in the world is now suffering from the results of that war. Our civilization is even now on the verge of destruction."

"It has made hundreds of millions of men and millions of paupers. It is still claiming its toll from every home and every fireside in the land. It has created a privileged class who live in luxury upon the gold coined from the life blood of our noblest citizens."

Senator Dill, Washington Democrat who was a representative 17 years ago: "If I had it to do over a hundred times I would vote the same way."

"If we had stayed out of that war nobody can conceive the influence our peaceful example would have had on the world. We would have been economically secure instead of in the plight we are today."

Representative Britten (R-Ill): "When the Woodrow Wilson administration declared war on Germany some 17 years ago, it permitted the most colossal blunder not only in the history of America but for all time to come."

"The war has been fought in vain. Representative Church (D-Cal): "I voted against the world war. Would I do so again? I surely would. Vote as I did and have America remain a light of the world instead of being hated as she is today. Why not?"

Representative Frear (R-Wis): "Wars again threaten to engulf the world. I have urged a constitutional amendment for a plebiscite on war, before Congress again declares war and a further provision that no American citizens shall be conscripted to fight in Europe or Asia."

Representative Keating (R-Minn): "Time has more than vindicated the position taken by those of us who voted against America's entrance into the world war."

"The constitution should be amended to provide that no declaration of war should be had until ratified by a vote of the people, save in case of invasion. The American people would have voted overwhelmingly against war in 1917."

Representative Lundeen (FL-Minn): "In April, 1917, America departed from the old landmarks of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln—real statesmen—who warned us to keep out of European wars and foreign entanglements."

"It is now universally agreed that we did blunder when we entered the war and it is universally agreed—never again."

RICHARD BUSH FARM IS SOLD TO HAASES

The Richard Bush farm, comprising 65 acres, large colonial dwelling and barns, at Lomontville, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Haase of New York city. The new owners have taken possession. They plan extensive improvements to the 14-room house, modernizing it, with purpose to operate it as a farm boarding house.

Mr. and Mrs. Haase have been coming to Ulster county for several years and have made many friends in the Kingston section. After comparing the advantages offered by Ulster county with those of other localities they decided to settle here.

The sale was made by Nathaniel B. Gross of the Gross Farm Agency, 277 Fair street, Kingston.

Divie Dunbar of musical comedies and movies made her first stage appearance at the age of 3 in Atlanta, her home.

Smith Avenue House Damaged by Fire

Fire and Police Departments investigating fire that broke out in residence of David Seigal at 55 Smith Avenue—No One Home at Time and No Fire in Heating Plant.

An employee of the board of public works while driving past the residence at 55 Smith Avenue early this morning saw that the house was on fire and notified the Central Fire Station. When the fire department reached the house it was to find that the fire was burning from the ground floor up to the roof. The house is occupied by David Seigal, and is owned by George W. Moore.

When the firemen arrived at the house it was to find all the doors locked and no one in the house. Later it was learned that the Seigals had gone to New York city last week for the Easter vacation.

Fire Chief Murphy stated after an investigation that the fire had evidently started in one corner of the living room and had burned up through the second floor to the attic and into the roof. The house had originally been shingled with wood shingles which were covered over with a tin roof.

The interior of the house was ruined by the fire.

There was no fire found in the furnace that is used to heat the house nor fire in any other part of the house. For that reason the authorities are making an investigation to ascertain if possible how the fire started.

At 8:40 o'clock this morning the fire department was called to the residence of Mrs. Jennie Noble at 93 Third Avenue, where a kerosene oil stove had filled the rooms with smoke. There was no fire damage.

house, and passed the Assembly—the strength of money where the halls of justice today have within them a banking corporation.

"And I wonder whether the halls of the legislature have today the strength of money in the form of public utilities that hampers the free action of the representatives of the people."

"That is the question. Will the people prevail? Or shall these great moneyed corporations with their power and their interlocking directorates control and hamper the free action of a free people? And shall they destroy the institutions created by our forefathers to further legislation for those not so fortunate as to have wealth?"

"The question here is a very serious one, Mr. President, and I regret very much the tragic scene that was created in this chamber last night when a free American citizen, a representative of the people, was not permitted to voice the opinion of his constituents throughout the state, for a senator is a representative of all the people of the state."

"I hope that the un-American practice will cease to exist in this house. In the darkest days of Russia, never was such a practice put into effect."

No senator commented on the McNaboe speech. McNaboe is a Manhattan lawyer. The legislature recently passed a bill of his to deprive the Irving Trust Company of its monopoly in federal receiverships in New York city. Governor Lehman vetoed the measure.

Diphtheria Clinics To Be At Woodstock

Two diphtheria clinics are scheduled for Woodstock, one Saturday, April 7, and the other a week following on the 14th. Both will be at the Methodist Church Hall, the first for pre-school children and the second for those attending school.

Dr. G. Lambert, Woodstock health officer, will be in charge.

Barnyard Choice of Trees

Most of the trees cut by farmers for fuel and building material are of little value, according to a bureau of biological survey report which says that spruce, cottonwood, birch, pine, cherry and such shrubby woods as willow, alder, brush maple, bass and similar bushes are usually chosen by these unfortunates.

Occasionally, however, the farmers will select more valuable trees which happen to be situated on lake or stream fronts or in orchards near the water, although the farmers will not bother them if they are protected with strips of woven wire.

Tammany Tiger Faces New Troubles Today

John F. Curry says he has no intention of resigning power—Only 7 Leaders Attended Weekly Meeting at Hall.

New York, April 4 (AP).—New troubles threatened Tammany Hall today as John F. Curry, beleaguered Tammany chieftain, announced his intention to fight the growing move to oust him.

He threw down the gauntlet at the Hall during his weekly reception for district leaders, of whom only seven appeared to pay their respects.

Asked if he intended to remain as leader, he replied: "I certainly do." He added he had no thought of resigning.

His silence was broken on the advice of friends, it was understood, who felt he could no longer ignore the very public efforts of lieutenants to oust him—an unprecedented situation in Tammany.

Sixteen of the 55 Tammany district leaders who said they held slightly less than a complete majority of the votes in the executive committee, met Monday to plan a fight unless he resigned.

Some confusion exists, however, as to the exact number of votes controlled by this group due to conflicting statements from dissident leaders.

A spokesman for the group said they were counting on eighteen of the twenty-five votes, representing signers to a petition which is to be prepared for submission to the executive committee calling a meeting.

Ordinarily, the committee meets every three months but Curry has not issued a call since October.

Graham, executive vice-president, announced today. Nearly 100 new dealers, he said, have been signed since March 1. In order to instruct Chevrolet's 25,000 retail salesmen on the extensive engineering advances in the 1934 models, 600 schools of instruction are being held this month throughout the United States. The schools follow the general plan of instruction courses given under the direction of E. W. Timper, sales promotion manager, and J. M. Crawford, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor Co., at important points during the automobile shows. Some 4,000 retail salesmen got first-hand information on the new mechanical developments at that time, and found the instruction so valuable as an aid in selling that the courses have been extended to include the entire sales body.

SCIENCE WONDER STORIES

Perfume Invades Industry

PERFUMES, subtle odors created chemically from the same raw materials used by makers of dyes and other organic chemicals, are now playing almost as great a part in modern industrial life as the altar of roses, spices of Arab and sandalwood have in literature and in the realm of soaps and cosmetics. These synthetic odors have a real psychological effect on people, particularly when they come to consider a pound, or a yard, or a piece of goods.

The textile or rubber manufacturer now overcomes any disagreeable odor of his product with chemical perfumes. A recent shipment of linen, for instance, would not sell. All it needed was a clean, fresh scent, easily to be had synthetically. A florist recently had his rose garden catalogue scented with rose. Russia leather can be made to smell the way people think Russia leather ought to smell by chemical scenting.

A recent survey showed that sales people in department stores found less sales resistance when selling stockings that had a slight aromatic odor.

Keeping Up Morale

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

In all quarters of the globe, wherever English people are to be found, the custom of dressing for the evening meal is likely to be prevalent. This custom has raised comment and ridicule, but to no end. The Englishman continues to dress for dinner, because he insists it is good for morale.

A young bride, an American girl this time, living in a small western mining town and doing her own work, adopted the same convention. No matter how tired she was, she always appeared at dinner dressed in something fresh and clean, more often than not, a real dinner dress, and as the babies came along and began to grow up, she trained them all to do the same.

When the man of the house came home, worn and lagged with the day's work, he always found his family in what looked like party clothes, and generally in the mood that parties produce. Dinner might consist of stew and rice-pudding, but it was invariably a gala meal and a fitting prelude to a restful evening.

It requires effort for a young mother not to let herself grow careless about her person. It requires still more of an effort to insist on children's dressing for dinner, especially in summer, when they want to stay out until the last moment. But in the end it is worth while, even if the dressing only consists of putting on tomorrow's clean school-frock, or even an outmoded "best dress" which is too old-fashioned for use outside the house, but still pretty for wear at home.

Formalities of this kind do help to keep up one's morale. They may be only externals, but they are symbols of gaiety and courage, and have a definite effect on those who practice them.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUENTON JAMES.

The name of Ivan Fedorof, the Russian who died in 1917, has lived through the years as that country's first printer. Now it commemorates tion of the 350th anniversary of his death, the Soviet republic is paying tribute to him in a special two-stamp issue.

And in keeping with the great program that the printing art has made in the comparatively few centuries it has existed the stamps are an ideal example of the ultimate in both the printing and the engraving art. They are also engraved by the Moscow engraver Troitzky in keeping with the design of the artist, W. Sawaloff.

The two stamps, the 26 kopek carmine, and the 30 kopek dark blue, have the same design. In the center is the Moscow statue of Fedorof, flanked by a Washington hand press and the most modern type of rotary printing press.

Belgium Mourns.

Jet black is used for the mourning stamp of Belgium in paying its respects to the late King Albert. The particular stamp so printed is the 75-centime, of 1932, showing Albert in military uniform.

Not only is the stamp itself black, but the border around the stamp between the frame lines and the perforations also is black. In addition there is a black border around the printed sheet, measuring about a quarter of an inch wide.

More on Maryland.

For the first time since the issue of 1887, the United States has a three-cent stamp printed in a shade of red in the new Maryland tercentenary commemorative. Most of the time since that date the three-cent stamp have been either violet or purple. The first three-cent stamp of Uncle Sam was rose and dull red in the issue of 1857-60, pink and rose in the second issue of 1861, and continued to be a shade of red until 1869, when the color was changed to ultramarine. It became green in 1870. After the 1887 vermilion stamp, purple was adopted for the 1890 issue, followed by another green in the Columbian issue of 1893. Purple continued to be the shade in the next issues, being changed to violet for the first time in 1902. Violet it has remained until the present.

Stamp experts explain that the universal postal union regulations now govern the colors used in the lower value stamps, each shade being based on the value of the stamp in gold.

Topical Trends.

Two years of research and five months of steady labor in compiling the information gathered are making themselves known in a new book by Prescott H. Thorp, New York stamp author and expert, under the title of "Commemorative Stamps of the World." It has 2,000 illustrations and lists and gives an explanation of every commemorative ever issued.

Because of the rise in foreign exchange since the standard catalogue for 1934 was printed last fall, the compilers have announced a 25 per cent advance in its ratings of all current and recent issues of foreign stamps, except those of Great Britain, U. S. listings and those of stamps now out of general postal use are not affected.

A Cheese Suggestion

When a recipe calls for cheese, it can be cut into small pieces, using a sharp knife, or it can be grated. The first method is quicker.

Dinner For Six
Meat, Spring Style
Creamed Potatoes
Browned Pineapple
Bread
Butter
Washington Cake
Coffee

Meat, Spring Style
1 pound veal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup paprika
6 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup water
3 tablespoons butter
Have steaks cut 3/4 inch thick and then cut into 1-inch squares. Use long metal or wooden skewers and alternate pork and veal on skewers until 8 pieces of meat have been used on each. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and flour. Fit into small baking pan and add butter and water. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven in covered pan. Turn frequently to allow even browning. Cook whole mushrooms 5 minutes in 2 tablespoons butter and stick on the ends of each portion. Arrange on browned pineapple.

Browned Pineapple
4 tablespoons butter
3 slices pineapple
Heat butter in frying pan. Add pineapple and brown quickly. Add juices, cover and cook 5 minutes. Carefully remove pineapple slices to serving platter and top with meat sticks. Garnish with parsley or cream. Serve at once.

To cut angel food or sponge cakes use two forks and break the slices apart. If a knife is pressed into the light cakes they are likely to become heavy.

A can of vegetable meat soup can often save the day when company comes, since it can be developed into meat stew, meat pie or creamed mixture. Or it can be combined with other vegetables or meats to make the dish extend farther.

Buttons and Cuffs as Decoration

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild

A synthetic mesh glove for the tailored costume has a piping of orange, a slashed side, and two large bone buttons for trimming—this is a slip-on. Next to it, at the top right, is a fine suede cloth glove with a edge. This is a more dressy style. At the lower left, reverse working of the fabric in diagonals serves to hold the two sections together. This glove is in a drop-stitch knitted plique type of fabric. At the lower right, an ensemble of glove with kerchief to match the cuff, done in embroidered organdie in a flower motif, the glove being of a dull finished ribbed synthetic fabric.

A Clever Suit For Street Wear.

8172. Gracious and charming is this two-piece suit, designed with so much cleverness and restraint as to be equally useful and becoming to women of any age and any size.

One may choose from a wide range of materials, with the result of making one's suit very individual and distinctive. First suggestion is that dark perennials, black and white, then comes the plain with print and after that more subtle combinations come to one's mind, such as brown with ashes of roses or chartreuse green, and dark and light blue.

Designed in sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 44 requires 5 1/2 yards of 39 inch material and 1 1/2 yard of contrasting. Lining for jacket requires 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

White Coats for Occasions

New York. You won't want your coat to wrinkle, but you certainly will like the material of which it is fashioned by white. The sweater-sucker construction is applied to other things too, such as blouses, and faces are making a favorable impression for coats especially.

While it's not a black year, there are many well-dressed-out women who cling to black with very little adornment. A bit of gold is one of the new accents, a single, rather large gold clip in some cases; in others a glimpse of gold jewelry, earrings particularly.

We've been hearing a lot about alpaca and now we are seeing it. It's a good coat fabric too, but among the alternatives you will find coatings in knitted construction. It's another knit goodie, common in so far as sports and country clothes go, and for blouses and such things as lend themselves to town wear. Later on there is an anticipated demand for novelty cotton coats, many of them white. Later too, we will be wearing linens, linen suits, coats, jacket costumes and separate coats linked to linen accessories, among which are gloves, shoes, bags and hats.

Agnes, who has done so many interesting things, more or less linked with hats, has again scored with her blouse and hat alliances. She likes them both of stiff jacy meshes, straw or stiffened lace itself. Marcel Rochas sent us a dress from her spring collection which not only had a lace cape but an enormous lace hat as well, the whole ensemble a bright apple green, crisp and delicate in design. From such evidence we may infer that there will be followers. What is newer and nicer for a bridal party for instance? And speaking of hats for the bridal party, the large Lephorn is a candidate for further favor. It seems to belong with sweeping lace and sheer fabrics and with dresses sashed as dresses are again.

Prints come thick or thin, the madder they are the better. Nothing too gay to be printed, seems to be the slogan.

Pointers on Poise

XII. Greeting the Hostess.

By Laura Townsend Davies.

Arriving on the scene of a social gathering is often an awkward experience for some women. The difficulty can be overcome if it is given a little attention.

Place a chair in the middle of your living room floor. That chair represents your hostess. Now come through the door of the living room and approach Mrs. Hostess in order to shake hands.

How It's Done.

Half with your weight over the ball of your left foot, right foot and leg relaxed and bearing little, if any, of your weight. Extend your right hand.

In this position, you have the proper balance—the hard line of the right hand and arm over the relaxed line of the left leg, the relaxed line of the left arm over the hard line of the left leg.

This Way is Ungraceful.

Now try assuming an incorrect position. As a horrible example, stand with your weight over the ball of the right foot, left limb relaxed, and extend your right hand to shake hands.

You are out of balance, you do not feel nearly so graceful, and you do not look the least bit graceful.

By trying this a few times, for contrast, you will become aware of the marked difference, and soon will be able to assume the graceful position without thinking about it.

Practice will eliminate awkwardness in position when meeting the hostess.

Today
Kingston: "The Cat and the Fiddle." Ramon Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald prove to be an exceptionally gifted singing team in this romantic of a struggling young composer of classical tunes, in love with a rich girl who has made a fortune singing popular songs in Paris. The story is far from new, in fact the plot is as mossy with age, but the charm of Mr. Novarro and the gorgeous voice of Miss MacDonald make up for any lapses the story may suffer. It is one of the best of the musical romances done in Technicolor, with a wealth of supporting players. Charles Butterworth handles the comedy assignment in a grand manner. "Golden Harvest" and "The Thrill Hunter." The first feature concerns two brothers, one a farmer, the other a speculator in the wheat market. Falling market prices cause the speculator to find his way out of his crumbling fortune, while the farmer finds himself in the midst of a strike among the farmers. Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin, Julie Haydon and Roscoe Ates. "The Thrill Hunter" stars Buck Jones in a fast traveling western drama.

Broadway: "Spitfire." Katharine Hepburn goes in for some heavy drama in the role of a mountaineer with a pure of heart, shunning conventions for simplicity, and her strange attitude of life causes her people to consider her an outcast. Dramatic, different, with Miss Hepburn displaying her range of acting capabilities, this picture is a simple and highly sensitive bit of entertainment. In the supporting cast is Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy, and Sarah Haden. Hepburn fans will find her at her best in this one.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
 HOLLYWOOD—Clark Gable returned from his personal appearance in the east with his wardrobe somewhat damaged by button-busting. He has been collecting some of the Gable hair was missing.

His visit proved, among other things besides Clark's personal popularity, that the days of frenzied adulation of movie stars are not completely gone. Occasionally one of them goes forth and creates a sensation akin to that aroused by the late Valentino.

But so many stars and near-stars have taken to the road in recent years that the novelty in most cases has worn off, and for the average player no longer are riot calls the result of a stroll down Broadway.

Acclaim in a Big Way
 If the time ever comes when the biggest of movie attractions can slip into New York without attracting more than a passing glance from the populace, all will not yet be lost. It is likely that there still will be a happier hunting ground for stars who crave personal contact with their audiences.

In South America they welcome their favorites in a truly huge way—and with tribute more practical than mere vocal acclaim. Rosita Moreno the slim Spanish dancer and singer who appears principally in Spanish versions but occasionally has been seen in other films, returned to Hollywood not only with tales of her reception but with a roomful of practical testimony to her popularity.

They Give Gifts, Too
 It seems that down there it's a quaint old custom to shower stars—if they like them—with gifts. Rosita brought back a trunkload of silverware—trays, dishes, platters, vases, bowls—besides an assortment of miscellaneous presents including some silver appearances of the "gaucho," a marble bust of herself and an elaborate medal testifying she had broken a house record in Buenos Aires.

When Paul Roulien returned to his native Brazil, the mobs were terrific. Ramon Novarro about to go concerting through the southern continent, may expect a similar reception. And now John Boles is talking about a South American tour between pictures.

Alice Brady, when a picture is not in production, enjoys what she calls a "night day," 24 hours long. It is spent entirely in bed, where she sleeps, eats from a tray, reads and won't answer the telephone. There'll be few "night days" for her soon, however, for she opens in a play here.

Kingston Girls Have Part in Barnard Fete
 Culminating several months of intensive work, the annual Greek Games of Barnard College will be presented on April 14. The games, which take the form of competition in dancing, athletics, costume, music and lyrics between the Freshmen and Sophomore classes, are currently dedicated to Aides, God of the Underworld. This offers to the two classes an opportunity to achieve striking originality in the stories, music and costume of the games.

The traditional beauty of this classic festival makes undergraduates, faculty, alumnae and friends of Barnard look forward to the games with greatest anticipation. The excitement over the ultimate outcome of the contest is especially keen this year, because of the fact that the present Sophomore class was victorious last year, an unusual achievement for a Freshman class. This year seems destined to be one that will stand out in the history of Greek Games at Barnard.

Miss Jeanette Stegmiller and Miss Isabelle Malone of Kingston are to be townpeople in the opening scene of the games. Miss Stegmiller is also a member of the Sophomore Music Committee.

Miner Tells How Five Escaped Tomb

(Jack Mineman, 45-year-old Lyons, Ind., miner, has told in the following story how he and four other coal diggers survived for more than five hours after they were trapped by fire in the Sinclair mine near Swiss City, Ind. Mineman, father of six children, was the oldest and most experienced of the miners.)

By Jack Mineman.
 Swiss City, Ind., April 4 (AP)—Five of us were at work in the Sinclair mine yesterday when we discovered the top of the shaft was on fire about 1:15 p. m.

Thomas Barnett, a young fellow who drives the pony that hauls the coal cars, ran up shouting "Hurry, quick, build a brattice, the tipple is on fire." He had taken a loaded car to the shaft and found the wrecked mine cage, which fell when a cable burned through. Smoke and flames were blowing down the shaft.

I got all the men together, and we picked up gob and slate and sacks and started a brattice about 200 feet from the mine entrance. Before we finished it smoke and fumes drifting along the passage reached us, and knowing we would be overcome in a few moments, we abandoned it.

We moved back another 200 feet and built a second one, completely before the smoke could penetrate to us. Behind it we settled and for the first time speculated as to what would become of us.

Fearing smoke in other parts of the workings, we decided to build a brattice behind us, and walked in a room about 24 by 12 feet. In that space we spent about four hours. We didn't talk much.

Roll Himebrook found a hole in a side of the passage and went to explore it in hopes of finding another outlet, but he came back and said the main entrance where the fire was was our only hope.

An hour later we heard a sound on the sound pipe which runs from the surface through the mine, but had no way of answering it. Finally we thought we heard some one calling from beyond our brattice. We didn't want to tear it down until we were sure, because we'd be asphyxiated in a short time if smoke came pouring through.

When we heard the call again, however, we decided the rescuers were near. Young Barnett tore a hole through the brattice and was the first one out. They took all of us to the temporary cage they had rigged up, and hoisted me to the surface first.

I had only a slight headache. I think we could have stayed alive down there for two or two and a half days.

Racing Industry Bill Ready for Vote

Albany, N. Y., April 4 (AP)—The three-point legislative program for the relief of the state's racing industry was ready today for a vote in the Senate.

Two bills and a resolution agreed upon last week by legislative leaders and turf executives were advanced late yesterday by the upper house to the order of passage.

Senator John J. Donigan, Democratic majority leader, predicted the measures would be passed by the Senate today and by the Assembly before the end of the week. Governor Lehman is on record as favoring better tracks by linking revenue to the state.

Although there was no record vote in the Senate yesterday when the bills were advanced, four Republicans asked to be recorded in the negative. They were Senators Bert Lord, Thomas Desmond, Leigh G. Kirland and Joseph Hatcher.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 4.—Financial markets were somewhat quiet today, with a slight decline in prices. The stock market was particularly dull, with many stocks showing a downward trend. The dollar continued to be in demand, and the gold market was also active.

When asked about the recent decline in prices, a prominent financial expert stated that the market was simply reacting to the general economic conditions. He noted that the dollar's strength was a positive factor, but the overall market sentiment was cautious.

Railroads including Santa Fe, Union Pacific and New York Central, among others, were reported to be in a good position. The dollar's value was also a topic of discussion, with many noting its recent performance.

Another Bill Added To Divorce Program

Albany, N. Y., April 4.—Another bill was added today to the legislative program pertaining to alimony and divorce in New York state.

Assemblyman Christopher C. McGrath, Bronx Democrat, asked the lawmakers to consider a measure intended to prohibit granting of alimony where there are no children of marriage and where it appears to the court that a wife has property sufficient to maintain herself.

Meanwhile, the Assembly was preparing to move forward toward passage today the bill of Assemblyman I. Arnold Ross, New York Republican, making three years desertion grounds for divorce.

The Assembly codes committee favorably reported out the bill last week after a public hearing at which the majority opinion favored the proposed legislation as a "betterment to social welfare."

Adultery is the only grounds for divorce at present.

Flax Industry Is Among Oldest Noted in History

Weaved into the history of many nations is the fiber plant called flax, recalls a correspondent in the New York Times. New Zealand growers demanded that their government prevent the export of flax to other countries, fearing that eventually they might meet the competition of cheap Oriental labor.

The cultivation and preparation of flax are among the most ancient of industries, traces of their existence during the Stone Age being preserved today. It was grown 4,000 or 5,000 years ago in Mesopotamia, Assyria and Egypt, and on the walls of tombs in those countries are pictorial representations of flax culture. Pharaoh, according to the Old Testament, arrayed Joseph "in vestures of fine linen."

The annual flax was introduced into the west of Europe by the western Aryans and into Hindustan by the eastern Aryans.

District of Columbia

The privilege of voting is not conferred upon citizens of the United States by the Constitution, but by the states to which they live. The tract of land known as the District of Columbia, which is co-extensive in area with the city of Washington, is not a state, or a part of any state. It does not belong to its residents, but to all the people of the United States who govern it through their representatives in congress. Its government is administered by a board of three commissioners, appointed by the President and confirmed by the senate. Under this system the citizens of the District of Columbia cannot vote in national elections, and there are no local elections. Many temporary residents retain their legal residence elsewhere and either go home to vote or vote by mail in those states where that method is permitted. But a citizen of the District is a citizen of the United States, and is eligible to federal offices.

Jaguar

The Jaguar and the Jaguarundi are not alike. Indeed two cats could hardly be more different, yet both inhabit tropical America. The Jaguar is in size between that of a tiger and a leopard, and like the latter, is marked with ring-like spots. It is a very powerful and savage beast, preying upon the largest quadrupeds and reptiles in the South American forests. On the other hand the Jaguarundi, which seems to be an Indian name somewhat modified in Spanish, is a small wildcat of the heated jungle from northern Mexico to Brazil, which lives in trees and hunts for birds and lizards. It is peculiar in its long, slender body, which measures about 20 inches, to which must be added a tail 20 inches in length. Its coat is short, fine, and of one color throughout, usually a pepper-and-salt gray.

Blue Blood Colors New York Politics

Mayor LaGuardia—Man Of The People—Has Nine Social Registerites Aiding Him

By RADER WINGET

New York City Mayor LaGuardia, who lives to be known as a man of the people, can point to nine city employees whose names appear in the Social Register.

Some are paid no more than $1 a year, but they are on the payroll working shoulder-to-shoulder with better paid and less prominent employees to help LaGuardia reform the city.

Many other socially outstanding New Yorkers have gone to work for the new administration. But the nine, by virtue of their inclusion in the ultra-ultra Social Register, represent the very loftiest social stratum.

Wed To Countess

On the mayor's secretarial staff is Clendennin J. Ryan, Jr., grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, the millionaire copper king. He is married to Countess Marie Anne Wurmbrand-Stuppach of Austria. Their St. Patrick's Cathedral nuptials made headlines in the social world.

William F. Morgan, Jr., president of the National Fisheries association, is LaGuardia's commissioner of markets, Fisheries and all, he is listed on page 562 of the Register.

John Francis O'Ryan, a major general with numerous decorations, is police commissioner. The Register, page 593, counts only the Military Order of Foreign Wars, the Pilgrims and Metropolitan of Washington as his distinctions. He has, however, received the distinguished service medal from the United States and high awards from Italy, Rumania, England, France and Belgium.

Langdon W. Post, Harvard '23, campaigned for Roosevelt and LaGuardia. He now is tenement house commissioner, leading LaGuardia's war on fire-traps.

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., who when a two child could quote Latin better than English, is city chamberlain. The Register doesn't list his memberships in the so-called Roosevelt "brain trust," but it does speak of his clubs, the City Midway, Cosmopolitan, Colony and the National Society of Colonial Dames. He also is a Harvard Man of '13.

Lawrence B. Dunham, who has just a line in the Register on page 239, is one of the mayor's secretaries.

Failure Is Foreseen For Income Tax List

Washington, April 4.—Efforts in the Senate to require full publicity for all income tax returns are forecast for failure by Democratic managers of the $330,000,000 tax bill.

In the belief that full publicity would minimize tax-dodging, Senator LaFollette (R., Wis.), who has several amendments pending to boost income and other levies, has indicated he might propose a publicity amendment. It would be similar to that approved by the Senate during consideration of the industrial recovery act.

This proposal was changed in a Senate-House conference so as to require tax returns to be made public, but subject to regulations approved by the President. The regulations have not been promulgated.

The first amendment set for a Senate vote today was one by Senator Hebert (R., R. I.) to restore the existing law regarding taxation of annuities, which requires no tax until the entire principal has been paid back to the annuitant and the interest begins.

HOW TO AVOID LOSSES IN PLANTING STOCKS.

Geneva, N. Y., April 4.—The first weeks of spring invariably bring to the State Experiment Station here complaints that newly planted nursery stocks are not growing well despite the fact that improved methods of storing, packing and shipping employed by most nurserymen today should result in greatly lessened losses of planting stocks. declares Dr. H. B. Tukey, station horticulturist. In Dr. Tukey's opinion the trouble often rests with the purchaser, who through poor handling or delay in unpacking the stock when he receives it or by exposing it unduly during the planting operation, is responsible for the poor showing that the stocks make later.

Nursery stocks are packed so as to reach the customer in good condition, and as soon as the box or bundle is delivered it should be opened, he says. Packed snugly together, they are, plants often overheat. Delay of a day or two during a warm spring spell may cause severe injury from this cause. This is particularly true of roses and strawberries. If because of delay in transit or for other reasons, the stock is shriveled, it may be restored to freshness by soaking in water for several hours or overnight before planting, or by burying both roots and tops for a short time.

If the stock can be planted at once, so much the better, but if it cannot, it can be held in good condition by "heeling in." That is, by digging a shallow trench in some sheltered spot, setting the plants at an angle, and covering the roots with soil. A common method is to throw the dirt on the far side when digging the trench. The stock is placed slantwise in the trench, with the roots against the shoulder of fresh dirt. Then the roots are covered by digging a second trench parallel to the first, this time throwing the dirt ahead onto the roots. The plants may be left in this condition for weeks until the ground is ready to receive them. In fact, some fruit growers secure stock in the fall of the year, especially such early springing stocks as cherry trees, heel it in carefully, and so have it ready just when they need it for spring planting.

During the planting operation, undue exposure of the stock should be avoided. A piece of burlap or a shovelful of earth thrown over the roots will help materially in reducing losses from this cause.

New York society is going in for practical politics at city hall. Among nine Social Registerites working for the city are (left to right): Winston Guest, polo star and political adviser; John Francis O'Ryan, a much-decorated major general in the army and LaGuardia's police commissioner; Adolf A. Berle, club man, "brain trust" and city chamberlain; Langdon W. Post, Roosevelt campaigner and tenement house commissioner; and Clendennin J. Ryan, Jr., who married a countess and works on the mayor's secretarial staff.

An Alexander Hamilton

Alexander Hamilton, the great-grandson of the first secretary of the treasury and a nephew of J. P. Morgan, is a special deputy commissioner of markets at $1 a year.

Alan R. Stuyvesant, who descended from the old Dutch families that settled New York, is secretary to Police Commissioner O'Ryan.

Winston Guest, a former Yale athlete and the first to be given a 10 goal handicap in American indoor polo, works for $1 a year as advisor and consultant to the fusion party minority in the board of aldermen. The Social Register says Raquet and Tennis, Meadow Brook, Yale '27, Columbia '32.

TEACHER TRAVELS WIDE TO SEE "BOYS"

Alumni Are Scattered All Over the World.

Shanghai.—No matter in which odd nook or cranny of the world, what queer port or strange shore he finds himself, Dr. Henry F. Cutler, schoolmaster, seems assured of being welcomed with unbounded joy and elation.

For 43 years, Doctor Cutler, a kindly, smiling, seventy-one, with twinkling blue eyes and unruly gray hair, was principal of Mount Hermon school, near Northfield, Mass., and now he is traveling around the world, visiting some of his former "boys" to whom he taught the three R's during the more than two score years.

The "boys" now have grown—many have made their fortunes in business and retired—and have scattered to the far corners of the world, from Nome, Alaska, to the Belgian Congo. He and Mrs. Cutler are en route to Paris after a brief stopover here. But by the time he reached here he realized it wasn't possible to see all his former students.

It was easy enough to meet them in New York, Havana, Panama, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Honolulu and Tokyo, where the local alumnae gave splendid receptions in his honor, but from Shanghai onwards, it will be difficult. As an instance, three of his "boys," George M. Newell and Rev. Robert M. McClure, missionaries, and Ralph Townsend, American consul, are now in Foochow, Fukien, and completely cut off from the outside world by the revolution raging there against the Nationalist government.

Mount Hermon school, a religious but nonsectarian school for boys, may not have a grid squad equal to University of Southern California, Northwestern or Princeton, but its seeds are planted the universe over, he says.

Doctor Cutler is going to stop in Paris long enough to study medicine, on the theory that it's a good thing to know about the ills and aches of the body as well as the mind.

"Wouldn't some of my boys be amused to see me—at my age—sitting on a hard, wooden bench in school, without any back rest, studying kid-ney, adenoids and things like that?" he says. "Well, I was a schoolmaster for 43 years and now I'm going to be one of those famous Paris medical students."

Early Valentine Days

During the reign of Charles II. St. Valentine's day festivities in England reached the apex of gay sentimentality. In Pepp's diary may be recorded: Not only did lovers send their adorned ones ardent and sentimental missives, but it was customary to make expensive gifts as well. It is said that the duke of York presented Mrs. Stuart with a jewel valued at 800 pounds. This is the most expensive valentine that history records.

Obverse and Reverse

The obverse is that which is turned over against something else. The reverse side of a coin is that which shows the eye when the coin is held before it as distinguished from its reverse or other side. In a general sense, the obverse designates a necessary correlative truth. In such use the truth and its obverse, in their relation to each other, stand as positive and negative.—Literary Digest.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press
Just Like An Adult
 Young Jackie Mason, two years old, saw an automobile wreck parked in front of his home yesterday. He climbed on the hood of a car and was off. He passed safely over an automobile and struck another car, which started to move. It crashed into a telephone pole.

Fish Story No. 57508
 In Sebastian, Spain—An amateur fisherman on the Urumea river has the season's record catch. His hook was something so bulky and heavy that he had to wait for ebb tide to pull it out. On the end of the line were two pistols tied together.

83 Year Old Farmer Hurt
 Albany, N. Y.—The spring plowing on the Kunkler farm will be delayed until this year until George Kunkler gets out of the hospital.

The 83-year-old farmer had just tucked up his team and started work in a field near the highway when an automobile screeched around a curve and into the field. Kunkler was pinned to the ground and his leg injured.

Spain Gone, Spring is Here.
 Washington—The first robin has arrived. The White House Easter egg rolling is over for a year, and the cherry trees hint of fragile blossoms about to appear.

But the capital has an even surer sign of spring.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, equally renowned for his ruddy whiskers and perfection of attire, has appeared on the Senate floor devoid of spots.

Coals to Newcastle.
 Washington—Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, seems to have heard the line about "carrying coals to Newcastle."

At least he has an eye for seemingly strange activities. In making a verbal report to department of agriculture head on the past year's relief activities, he declared butter had been shipped into Wisconsin, leading dairy state, and canned beef into North Dakota, one of the foremost range cattle states.

Winter Sport In Summer Air.
 Mt. Pocum, Pa.—With the thermometer near summer figures, skaters on Pocum Lake thought they better be careful. So they got an axe to test the thickness of the ice. It was fourteen inches through, remainder of the coldest February ever recorded in the northeastern United States.

Two Lucky Lucy's.
 New Britain, Conn.—Two girls named Lucy Buchner learned that they have something else in common. Their engagements were announced the same day. Neither girl knew of the other's betrothal until after the announcements. They live in the same neighborhood and are not related.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well as Men
 Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Rosendale, Ridgers Tonight; Ridgers, Luckies Thursday

The Waterbury baseball series for the championship will have two games tonight at the White Eagle Hall.

Tonight's match will be between the Stone Ridge youngsters and Rosendale. The game is expected to develop into one of the most interesting of the season.

If Rosendale wins the championship will go to last year's champion, Stone Ridge. If Stone Ridge wins, the championship will go to the team which defeated them in the first game.

Rosendale plans to put up its hardest fight tonight to prevent Stone Ridge from getting a chance to renew its hold for the championship. Indications are that the White Eagle Hall will be packed to capacity for the game.

There will be a preliminary and dance in connection with the game. Harry Mosenholder's orchestra furnishing the music.

Thursday night at the White Eagle the Stone Ridge-Luckies battle will be preceded by two games, one between the Kingston High School Varsity and Spencer's College, the other the Rosendale Girls and Holy Cross Girls.

Time of the first game is 7 o'clock, the second 8 and the third 9. Dancing will follow. Andy's orchestra playing.

Patrons of the championship series are requested to note the change from Friday to Thursday in the game scheduled at the Delaware avenue court.

Nats Lead Grapefruit, Pirates, Cubs in Front

New York, April 4 (AP)—Clubs carrying the banner of the National League into the annual Grapefruit loop competition have piled up a nine-game lead over their rivals from the American League.

The records to date show 31 triumphs for the National League against 22 for the American with 55 more games to be played before the clubs settle down to the serious business of deciding the major league pennant race, starting April 17.

Though the lead is nothing at stake and the results are far from conclusive proof of anything in particular, National League partisans nevertheless can feel encouraged by the outcome of the first 53 games between the two leagues. Only the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Phillies have failed to get better than an even break in their tussles with American League representatives so far.

The world champion New York Giants, with eight victories, and the Boston Braves, with six, have been the heaviest winners in these inter-league contests but they likewise have lost the most, six and five respectively. Chiefly responsible for the American League's failure to keep pace have been the Philadelphia Athletics, Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox, who together have dropped 21 decisions to John Heydler's representatives.

On percentage, the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs are the leaders. Each has won three games and lost only one in their series with the White Sox, only American League club training on the Pacific coast.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press.)

St. Louis, Mo., April 4 (AP)—Starting from the spring camp at Yuma, Jackson, Monday, St. Louis may have the way made into the New York Giants lineup as a second baseman. The youngster played there yesterday with a Houston City was nursing an injured ankle.

On April 4, The opening of the National League season is less than two weeks away but Bob Quinn, business manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, still is trying to find another starting pitcher.

Captious critics insist the Dodger pitching staff consists of "Mungo, Mungo, Mungo."

Yankees

Atlanta. In his capacity of president of the Atlanta Baseball club, Bobby Jones is sorry Babe Ruth is not manager of the New York Yankees.

The Atlanta club needs mound strength and Bobby says, "I'd trade a pretty fair golfing backswing for a winning pitcher. Too bad, Ruth's not the Yankees' manager. A golf bug like the Babe would make the deal gladly."

Cardinals

Bradenton, Fla.—Manager Frank Frisch has not yet rounded out his starting mound staff, although Dixie Dean, Bill Hallahan and Tex Carleton are assured of regular duty assignments with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frisch wants more time for naming his other starters. However, it appears that Bill Walker, Paul Dean and Jess Haines are being groomed as alternates with the other three who did most of last season's pitching. The Cards have 12 pitchers on the staff, three of whom will be cut off.

The six fighting for positions are: Bill Walker, Paul Dean, Jess Haines, Jim Winford, Jim Mooney, Clarence Heise and Bob Kilgore.

Reds

Tampa, Fla.—A deal was brewing today between the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs.

Clarence Rowland, scout for Chicago, looked over the Reds yesterday and had a talk with Pitcher Benny Frey, with the permission of Manager Bob O'Farrell.

Frey said he has been troubled with a lame arm this spring, but hopes to work out of this soon.

Los Mallon, who lost the third base to Mark Klenig, has been released to Buffalo, of the International League.

Pirates

Phoenix, Ariz., April 4 (AP)—Leading the Pirates into town for a one-day stand yesterday against the Chicago White Sox, Manager George Gibson observed there are four flag contenders in the national loop.

"Gibby" listed the quartet as "The Giants, the Cubs, the Cardinals and the Pirates."

He's delighted that "they're not picking the Pirates" as sure winners this spring.

"I contend my club was on the spot last spring on account of having been picked to win the flag. The Giants on the other hand had little to worry about and you know what happened."

State Racing Laws To Get Break at Gates

New York, April 4 (AP)—Whether or not they are allowed to bet openly on the races, the racing fans of New York state will get more chances than ever before to see the horses run this season and at less expense.

The 1934 summer schedule approved by the Jockey Club yesterday, calls for 163 days of racing at the state's five courses, starting at Jamaica April 21 and closing at Empire City October 27. Anticipating legal betting under the three bills now being considered at Albany and consequently increased incomes and attendance, the heads of the five racing associations have agreed to lower the general admission prices from $2.75 to $2.50, including federal tax and the proposed 15 percent state tax.

The dates approved follow:
Jamaica—April 21-May 15, October 1-13.

Belmont Park—May 16-June 2; September 3-15.

Aqueduct—June 11-July 4; September 17-29.

Empire City—July 5-28; October 15-27.

Saratoga—July 30-September 1.

Planthaber was Teller 37 and 28; Teller was Planthaber 37 and 28.

There is no round robin match tonight, but there is a match scheduled in the junior tournament between Myron Herrik and John Cava.

Jack The Giant

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The opinion harbored by some of America's leading football educators—that scouting is a pernicious practice—that it isn't exactly "cricket," as they say in England—gets nothing but a hearty laugh from the English Football Association.

They not only believe in scouting right up to the hilt, by jove, but they see to it that nothing tricky is put over on the gumshoes, that they are given every cooperation in getting a line on next week's opponents.

A team must put its full strength on the field for every league game, and any time one fails to do just that it is soaked a nice, heavy fine. The scout, they feel, as well as the spectator, is entitled to see everything a team has. A quaint idea, eh? But you ought to see the crowds it pulls through the gate.

Sure to See First Stringers
Before the rule was passed, they say, it got to where you didn't know whether you were going to see the first team or the third stringers in action, especially if an outfit was playing a "breather" and knew there were scouts in the stand.

Did the spectators put up a roar about it, threaten to stay at home and listen to the radio if something wasn't done? Apparently not. At least it isn't recorded that they did.

But you should have heard the squawk put up by the scouts! They had been bilked, and before they got through hollering there was a rule for their "protection."

The Lost Notebook
There isn't much danger of the American athletic scouts becoming a vanishing race, whatever the academic department's objections may be. As a matter of fact, the college football scouts need not feel jealous about the consideration extended to their British cousins.

Except for some sections of the old east, gridiron scouts are not only welcomed but given the best seats in the stands, all the courtesies they need otherwise, plus food and entertainment.

There's the story about a scout who lost his notebook on the way out of town after a big football game. Worried sick, he wrote back to the coach of the team he had been scouting and pleaded for help. Meanwhile the book had been found by a spectator and turned over to the coach, who checked through the notes and diagrams, made corrections and forwarded the whole thing to the scout!

QUARTER FINALS TODAY IN NORTH, SOUTH GOLF TOURNEY

Pinehurst, N. C., April 4 (AP)—George T. Dunlap faced quarter finals of the annual north and south amateur golf tournament today with easy prospects.

The National amateur champion yesterday blazed his way across the Pinehurst No. 2 course with an astonishing 63, eight strokes under par, to shatter all professional and amateur records for the layout. He went out in 31 and home in 32 to eliminate Donald Parson, of Youngstown, Ohio, 7 and 5. He required but 17 putts on the 18 greens, sinking his approach on the fifth for a birdie three.

Today he faced Jack Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., who yesterday eliminated Arthur M. Wood, Princeton University golf captain, one up.

In other quarter final matches today, Halbert J. Blue, of Pittsburgh, engaged Dick Wilson, of Southern Pines, N. C.; R. A. Lester, of Orange, N. J., opposed Arthur Lynch of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; and Johnny Johnson, of Lumberton, N. C., teed off against Dick Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn.

Cubs Strengthened All Around And Boasting Plenty New Faces—Grimm

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh of a series of eight stories written for The Associated Press by big league managers giving their views on the coming pennant races.

By CHARLES J. GRIMM

Manager, Chicago Cubs

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Calif. (AP)—Strengthened in every department, I think the Chicago Cubs have a much improved club over the one we started with last year and certainly we are going into the 1934 National League race with every intention of winning.

Of course the addition of Charles (Chuck) Klein, National League batting champion of 1933, to our outfield has helped a lot, but I also expect a great deal from the fine crop of youngsters which has come to us this spring.

I believe the public would like to see some new faces on the Chicago Cubs' team and if these young fellows come through as I expect them to we will have a peppy club that will be hard to beat.

Seen From Backs Making Grade
In all my years in organized baseball I have never seen so many good-looking prospects among the rookies as we have this season. Usually a manager is lucky to find one good player in the bunch but early indications are we have three or four who are going to make the grade.

Dick Ward, who led Pacific Coast league hurlers last year, certainly looks like the money. He has a fine change of pace—the best I have ever seen in a newcomer—and there apparently are no flaws in his delivery. Bill Lee, another right hander who came to us from Columbus, also holds promise among the new pitchers.

As for Klein, I don't rate any stock in the fact that the short right field at Philadelphia was the answer to his remarkable hitting average of .348. Frankly, I think he is the outstanding player in the league. I've seen him hit outside his own park with great results.

My outfield is a puzzle and I have a lot of combinations worked out better than ever. If he does, one combination I have been considering strongly would put Babe at right field, Klein in center, with Riggs Stearns and Stahlback sharing left field, provided Tuck gets off on the right foot.

I have a great deal of faith in Stearns and Stahlback sharing left field, provided Tuck gets off on the right foot.

But you can't very well leave a great player like Hazen (KID) Cuyler on the bench. I may work him in right field this season.

The Chicago fans want to see new faces and I think they will see a group of determined young players who, with the old hands, are going to send us right up to the top.

Newcomers Lift Chicago Flag Hopes

Chicago baseball fandom, eager for "new faces" in the Cubs' lineup, ought to be satisfied with this array, several of whom are sure to see lots of action. At left is Chuck Klein, the Cubs' prize purchase of the winter season. Catcher Ernie Phelps (upper right) should be able to replace the veteran Gabby Hartnett frequently. Pitcher Dick Ward (left, above) led Pacific Coast league hurlers last season and looks handsome while below him is Angie Golan, promising infielder, and at lower right George "Tuck" Stahlback, handsome outfielder threatening the venerable Riggs Stearns.

Chicago fans want to see new faces and I think they will see a group of determined young players who, with the old hands, are going to send us right up to the top.

Spring Weather Boon to Golfers

Spring weather is bringing out the golfers and the season of 1934 promises to be one of the most successful that the Hudson River Golf Association has seen since its organization, according to officials of the organization who have recently listed events for the coming season.

The Hudson River Golf Association consists of clubs in the various cities and towns along the mid-Hudson from Rockland county north to Ulster and Dutchess counties. The Twaitskill Club of this city is a member of the association.

Enthusiasm is greater than ever before, the leaders point out. Every club in the association has been making improvements to the courses. The prizes for all events will have twice the value of any previous year, according to John F. Barringer, treasurer of the association.

Each trophy offered by the association will be made of sterling silver, weighing a pound and engraved to show the club and the event. By the system of handicaps in use in the association, every player who enters a tournament at a "Saturday at golf" will have an equal chance to win a prize.

The Dutchess Golf and Country Club will be host to the association on June 28 at which time competition for the Charles H. Brown Memorial trophy will be held while Twaitskill's day at golf will be on Saturday, June 30. The senior golf tournament will this year be held at the Powelton Club, Newburgh, on September 12 and 13.

The card of days-at-golf follows: June 2, Orange Country Golf Club, Middletown; June 14, Columbia Country Club, Hudson; June 20, Dutchess Golf and Country Club, Suffern; July 14, Houvenkopt Country Club, Suffern.

July 28, Hollow Brook Country Club, Peekskill; August 18, Hudson River Country Club, Yonkers; September 8, Rockland Country Club, Nyack; September 22, Twaitskill Club, Kingston; September 29, Powelton Club, Newburgh.

The Fenians
Fenian, or Fenian society, is a popular name for the Irish Republic Brotherhood, or I. R. B., a political association of Irish-Americans organized for the overthrow of British authority in Ireland and the establishment of a republic. The name was derived from "Finn," a company of legendary warriors in Ireland under the leadership of the mythical hero, Finn MacCumall.

The modern Fenian movement, adopting the name of the ancient military association, had its first seat among the Irish population in America, which had largely increased since the great famine and exodus of 1846 to 1847. The society was founded in this country by John O'Mahoney in 1858. The principal object of the brotherhood was to supply money and arms to the Irish cause, and in this country the ability to bear arms was not a necessary qualification. The establishment of the Irish Free State removed the reason for existence of the brotherhood, and it is now practically extinct.

Shamoying
Shamoying is another name for chamoising, the process of converting skins into leather by treating them with fats. It makes a soft, pliable product, particularly adapted for light colored leathers.

The farmer-labor party, successful in Minnesota politics, has a night school to teach members public speaking.

RESEMBLANCE

The court was trying a case when had arisen out of a car accident. "You say you were half scared to death," said counsel for the defense. "I know very well I was," said the victim, with a wince.

"Then," said counsel coolly, "how do you know it was a motor car, or something resembling a motor car, that ran over you?"

"The victim looked square at him. "It resembled one, all right," he replied. "I was forcibly struck by the resemblance."

ROLL ALONG

Mr. W.—Shakespeare says that music is the food of love.
Mrs. W.—That reminds me, George, perhaps you had better bring home a few rolls tonight.

Family Secrets

The teacher was explaining to the class the meaning of the word "rejuvenate." "Now, Tommy," she said to a small boy, "when your father has worked hard all day, he is tired and worn out, isn't he?"

"Yes, ma'am."
"Then, when night comes, and his work is over for the day, what does he do?"

"That's what mother wants to know," Tommy explained, quickly.

Usual Kind

An old gardener was somewhat bored by the persistent questions of a townsman staying at the local hotel.

One day the visitor found his victim busy planting trees, and immediately asked: "What kind of trees are you planting?"

"He was somewhat taken back when he received a curt reply, 'Wooden ones.'—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Kiss Cure

"Let me kiss those tears away, sweetheart," he said, tenderly. She fell into his arms, and he was very busy for a few minutes. But the tears flowed on.

"Can nothing stop them?" he asked breathlessly.

"No, sir," she murmured. "It's her fever; but carry on with the treatment."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Back to the Home Roost!

The Bore—I'm rather good at imitations. I imitate almost any bird you can name.

She (stifling a yawn)—How about a homing pigeon?

CONVINCING

"Don't ever marry one of these emotional actresses, my boy."

"Why not?"

"They put too much feeling into their requests for money."

Beauty and Brains

Lady Visitor—And what brought you here, my good man?

Convict—Well, madam, my father said when I was a boy that he hoped I would marry beauty and brains, and I wanted to please him.

Visitor—Yes?

Convict—So I'm in jail for bigamy.

Pie-Making

A certain small restaurant was kept by a man who prided himself on his cooking. He was amazed to hear a young salesman criticize a pie one day.

"Pie, young fellow? Why, I made pie before you were born."

"O. K. But why sell 'em now?"

Location of the Hands

The photographer was taking a picture of a father and his college boy son. The photographer suggested that the boy stand with his hand on his father's shoulder.

"More appropriate," suggested the father. "If he stood with his hand in my pocket."

English as She Is Spoken

His Reverence—Oh, since you're going through the village, Jarvis, I would like you to look in at the Craddock's cottage, and say I sent you to inquire about all of them there.

Odd-Job Man—Them there was out?—London Opinion.

Lessons and Lessons

Pupil—How much does it cost a lesson?

Music Teacher—Ten dollars.

Pupil—Couldn't you lessen the amount?

Amphibians
The same amphibians, under which such vertebrates as frogs, toads, salamanders and newts are classified, means "double life." Its application to these creatures is due to the fact that they spend part of their life in the water and part on land.

Highland Will Have Largest Nudist Camp

Within a Month Nudist Camps Will Be Flourishing in at Least 17 States—Largest Again in Chester County.

New York, April 4. (AP)—Within a month nudist camps will be flourishing in at least seventeen states.

Four of the states will be new to nudism—Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Colorado.

"We are definitely past the experimental stage," Dr. Hiler Boone, executive secretary of the International Nudist Conference, said today.

Dr. Boone estimated the increase of adherents to nudism this year at 400 per cent. The states in which camps will be operated, in addition to the four already mentioned, are Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, California, Maryland, South Carolina and Florida.

There also will be a camp near Louisville, Ky., Dr. Boone said, as soon as the recent act of the legislature has been locally interpreted. Reports from Kentucky were that a $1,000 annual fee and a 20-foot wall of brick, stone or cement would be required for a nudist colony.

However, on writing to the secretary of state of Kentucky, Dr. Boone said he found that the act when passed had been amended to read "lawful" where it originally read "unlawful," so that the important section of the act now reads:

"In order that the privacy of the person or persons living in a nudist colony might be assured, it shall be lawful (sic) for any person, firm, corporation or other organization to operate said colony without first building a wall twenty feet in height made of brick, stone or cement around the premises on which the colony is located."

A Louisville nudist group has combined for the present with a Cincinnati group, Dr. Boone said, and will camp near Cincinnati in Ohio.

There are a dozen nudist groups in New York city and at least six of them will operate camps in New York and New Jersey. The largest will be again near Highland, N. Y.

Virginia will be host to Washington, D. C., nudists, where two groups are organized. One member, according to Dr. Boone, is a United States Senator.

Redeemer Aid Meeting

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will be held at the church Thursday evening.

Mrs. D. C. Jansen spent Wednesday in Newburgh.

Miss Helen McCann of Brooklyn spent the week-end and Easter with her aunt, Mrs. Aaron Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Carrado spent Monday in Brooklyn.

Communion will be held in the M. E. Church April 8.

Inventors Tell What Country Needs

Seattle, April 4. (AP)—What the country needs is a new way of thinking, a new way of planning, a new way of doing things, according to the National Inventors' Congress, said here today.

"A fortune awaits the man who can invent some playing cards that can be washed off after each game, especially when pin stickers are served while contract bridge is being played," Burns said. "If playing cards, like celluloid collars, have been tried, but nobody wants to use them."

After surveying some 500 new patents and "brain children" of the National Congress, he said the world still is waiting for many "needed inventions."

The saxophone manufacturers want a reed that will last "forever." "Of course," Burns explained, "there also is considerable demand for a device which will prevent a saxophone from making any noise at all."

Other needed inventions, which Burns listed, include: A machine which can peel into an orange and determine whether it is first bitten; a device to cool soft drinks without freezing the water; a sink trap that can be cleaned without being taken apart; a device which will keep men's socks up without garters or elastic; and a method of making straw hats so that they will not become discolored by sunlight.

Excelsior Hose To Parade Next June

The Excelsior Hose Company has voted to take part in the big firemen's parade that will bring to a close the annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association to be held in Saugerties. The parade will be held on the closing day—Thursday afternoon, June 21. The local fire company will make the trip to Saugerties by bus and have invited Mayor C. J. Heiseleman and the board of fire commissioners to be their guests on the day of the parade. The Excelsiors will be headed by their own band and five drum corps in the parade.
